

Creative Commons Licenses: Assessment

Part A – Knowledge Check (Multiple Choice & Matching)

1. Multiple Choice

Which Creative Commons license allows you to Share, Adapt, Use commercially as long as you give credit?

- a) CC BY
- b) CC BY-SA
- c) CC BY-NC
- d) CC BY-ND

2. Matching

Match the license icon to its correct description:

| License Icon | Description                                                       |
|--------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
| CC BY-NC     | A. Share, adapt, but no commercial use, must credit               |
| CC BY-ND     | B. Share only exact copies, commercial use allowed, must credit   |
| CC0          | C. No restrictions, attribution optional                          |
| CC BY-SA     | D. Share, adapt, commercial use allowed, must credit, share alike |

Part B – Scenario-Based Application

3. Scenario 1

You created an infographic on climate change. You want anyone to reuse it, even commercially, but you want them to share any modifications under the same terms. Which CC license should you choose?

4. Scenario 2

You are preparing a set of educational worksheets. You want them to be used only for non-commercial purposes, and you don't want others to make changes. Which CC license should you choose?

5. Scenario 3

You are writing an article for an open-access journal and want to allow the widest possible use of your work, even without credit. Which license would you choose?

Creative Commons Licenses: Assessment

Part C – Practical Attribution Task

6. Attribution Writing

Find an image under a CC BY-SA 4.0 license from Wikimedia Commons. Write a correct attribution for it following this format:

Title of work by Author is licensed under CC License Name & Version with link to license.

7. License Identification

Look at the following credit:

“Ocean Sunset” by Jane Doe is licensed under CC BY-NC-SA 4.0.

Identify:

- a) Can you adapt the work?
- b) Can you sell the adapted work?
- c) What must you include if you share the work?

Part D – Project Integration

8. Publishing Project

Create a one-page digital poster or infographic that includes at least two CC-licensed media elements (e.g., an image, an icon, or a quote). Include a “Credits” section with correct attribution for each item, and indicate the license type for your poster.
